

SOCIAL SCIENCE
(specialty 22.00.04)

Bannikh G.A., Tovmasyan N.D. Role of professional activity style of the official in formation of the socially-professional generality of the state and municipal employees

The socially-professional generality of the state and municipal employees of modern Russia makes considerable impact on the social processes proceeding in our society. As a backbone sign of formation of the given generality special professional activity style of officials acts. Article purpose is consecutive disclosing of a role of professional activity style in formation and maintenance of the generality, in processes of professional socialization and social identification of modern state and municipal employees. The author leans on theoretical sources and results of some sociological researches, allowing to draw a conclusion that professional activity style of the modern official is the institutional basis uniting a socially-professional generality of employees within the limits of socially-legal institute of public service.

Key words: professional activity style, socially-professional generality, the state and municipal service, the official.

Ural state economic university

March, 14, 2011
