

LINGUISTICS
(specialty 10.02.19)

Sogomonova L.E. Complex syntactic whole with citation

It is considered the models of complex syntactic whole, one of which is citation, in other words a component that presents speech of the other. The topicality of the problem is determined by the existing in modern linguistics the necessity for system description of citation phenomenon within structural and functional aspect and revealing the peculiarities of citation functioning in a polyphonic text. Citation is also considered as a necessary term of formation of certain models of the whole both in Russian and English.

Key words: citation, syntax, structural and functional aspect, speech, text.

Pedagogical institute of Southern federal university

June, 17, 2011
