Rogozhina T.A. Complex syntactic whole and dialogue integrity: system and functional analysis

The paper is devoted to one of the contemporary linguistics of the text problems of current importance. Multiple-aspect extended analysis and the description of the coherence and interconnection of the complex syntactic unity and the dialogic unity with coordinate conjunctions as syntactic text-forming units are presented in the given paper. The classification of structural-semantic types of the complex syntactic unity and the dialogic unity, regularly found in the belletristic literature texts is made on the base of the systematic-functional analysis.

Key words: text, complex syntactic unity, dialogic unity, systematic-functional analysis, text units.
