

ECONOMICS
(specialty 08.00.05)

Tiveleva O.Ju. Conscious self-regulation as an economic phenomenon

It is reflected the results of the research of theoretical bases of the conscious self-regulation in the mixed economic system. The scientific novelty of conclusions of the author is in the research of the phenomenon of the conscious self-regulation: it is specified categorial apparatus, disclosed kinds of self-regulation, given the characteristics of subject-object structure, defined levels, principles and features of realization of the self-regulation process, offered the tools and mechanisms of its realization, revealed forms of interaction of the subjects, distinguished main and secondary functions of conscious self-regulation, offered the criterion of effectiveness and defined the advantages of conscious self-regulation

Key words: conscious self-regulation, state regulation, corporate and institutional regulation, co-regulation.

Povolzhsky cooperative institute of Russian university of cooperation

December, 17, 2011
