

LINGUISTICS
(specialty 10.02.19)

Gailomazova E.S. Substantives with quantitative semantics and quantitative substantive metaphor (sea, drop).

General problem of quantification, as well as many private details of quantificative characteristics have already been the object of linguistic study. Nearly all manifestations of quantification, even in its broadest sense, of course, are already known. But the differences between the system importance of the quantifiers and multiple contextual increments both of semantic and pragmatic and cultural nature are so striking that encourages to this issue again and again.

Keywords: Quantification, metaphor, grammaticalization, plurativ, the genitive construction, gradualness.
