

SOCIAL SCIENCE
(specialty 22.00.01)

Akhmedova I.G. Socio-economic and socio-cultural differentiation of young families in contemporary Russia

This article examines the impact of social polarization of Russian society on socio-economic and socio-cultural differentiation of young families. Emphasizes the importance of the state family policy to minimize the negative effects of social polarization families.

Key words: family, social polarization, differentiation, demographics and lifestyles.

South-Russian state university of economics and service

January, 22, 2012
