

LAW
(specialty 12.00.01)

Plekhova O.A. On the question of forms and methods of struggle with corruption in USSR

The article is devoted to the analysis of methods and conflicts against corruption forms in the USSR. Application of various methods and conflicts against corruption forms are connected first of all with different periods of history, forms of corruption manifestation had different character. It was applied the complex methods including various approaches of struggle, from criminal punishments before moral condemnation, to the narrowed approach limited with separate punishments or in general only by ascertaining of the fact of infringement. The author analyses legislation operating at that period, judiciary practice. Feature of conflicts against corruption is caused and historically combined relation of a society to corruption as to tolerant and in certain cases even to the natural phenomenon. It is made an attempt to analyse approaches to conflicts against corruption throughout all period of existence of the USSR.

Key words: corruption, reforms, bribery, civil servants, officials, the Soviet political system.