

PHILOSOPHY
(specialty 09.00.11)

Lytkin V.V. Some problems formation of social ideal in early Russian philosophic tradition

This article devoted to the domestic spiritual culture, including formation of ideas of Russian cosmism philosophy, as one of the most original phenomena of public and philosophical thoughts of XIX-the XX-th centuries, the philosophical basis of modern astronautics is a question of research of a problem of formation of a public ideal in the history of Russian philosophy. The public thought initially aspired to develop the public, social ideal, called to prove and strengthen national statehood, the Russian consciousness. The early Russian social thinkers and philosophers of The Age of Russian Enlightenment lay the foundation for national understanding of laws of development of human communities and formation of a national social ideals. Russian thinkers mark an especial way of common cultural development of Russian society, its communication with laws of development of the states and a civilization in the Western Europe, possibility of creation of the fair social device on bases of observance of Orthodox belief, development of social and economic activity of citizens, achievements, on the basis of it, equality of all citizens, including women (Illarion, Filofey, J.P.Kozelsky, S.E.Desnitsky). Further, these ideas will be developed in works of the Russian thinkers of XIX – the XX-th centuries, including representatives of Russian cosmism philosophy.

Key words: social ideals, Russian philosophy, Russian cosmism philosophy

Kaluga state

university of K.A. Tsiolkovsky

August, 21, 2012

---