

PEDAGOGY
specialty 13.00.08

Sklyarova N.Ju. On the question of education logistics

The educational process is an important part of modern human resource management. The author proposes to consider the logistics of education as an integrated process of planning, preparation, storage and movement of educational services and information, including, educational statistics, which in turn, is the methodological basis for the analysis of systems, search and make informed management decisions. The article describes the different approaches to understanding the logistics in the field of education. The model of logistic system of education by which we can solve the problems of human resource management through an organized collaboration of schools, universities and businesses.

Keywords: educational logistics, information flows, the model of logistic system in education, job market.

Don state

technical university

September, 17, 2012
