

SOCIAL SCIENCES

specialty 22.00.08

Lepin A.P. Family as an agent of students' socialization within the context of Russian society modernization

The article is devoted to the most important agent of socialization of the younger generation-family. This paper describes the results of polls «The socialization and education of university students», conducted in 2006 and 2011. The polls show that model of family socialization has changed. These processes occur on the background of upgrade in Russia. The author notes differently oriented mechanisms family socialization in the context of the modernization process in the Russian society. This fact has a serious impact on the whole process of socialization of the students.

Keywords: social and demographic modernization (upgrade), the family, change in the function on the family, socialization, students, the model of family socialization of students.

Southern

federal university

September, 19, 2012
