

PHILOSOPHY
(specialty 09.00.13)

Chapny E.V. Idea of a corporal involvement in the surrounding world in the scientific heritage of A.F. Losev

The article describes the main characteristics of solid approach to cognitive processes, summarizes the basic principles of modern complexity concept of embodied involvement into the world around us. The suppositions for the development of the modern idea of embodied determination of mental and cognitive processes, expressed in the representation of embodied perception is identified in A. Losev's scientific heritage. The conclusion about the necessity of the ancient ideas deep study of embodied involvement in the world around at the present stage of development of the humanities is made.

Key words: embodiment, embodied cognition approach, complexity, cognitive processes, embodied cognition, mental processes, mind-body problem, a holistic approach, a type of ancient culture, the Homeric epos.

North-Caucasus scientific center of Southern federal university

March, 19, 2013
