

PHILOSOPHY
(specialty 09.00.14)

Sheff G.A. Subject field of religion philosophy in Russian religious philosophy of the second half of XIX century

The subject area of philosophy of religion in Russian religious philosophy in the second half of the XIX century is considered. It is identified the main themes of philosophy of religion. The article describes the methodological and philosophical approaches of S.N. Trubetskoy to the definition of religion. It is shown that in the consideration of nature of religion, it is close to V.S. Solovyov. It is analyzed the structure of religion in the sense of S.N. Trubetskoy. It is identified the key factors of the religious consciousness. It is given the essential characteristics of the object of religious beliefs. Arguments about religious faith, marked its specific moments are presented.

Key words: religion, religious belief, philosophy of religion.

Southern federal university,

Rostov-on-Don, Russia

May, 21, 2013
