

PSYCHOLOGY
(specialty 19.00.13)

Roshchevskaya E.V. The problem of communicative resources as a determinant of the success of professional development specialists of anthropocentric professions Relevance of the study reveals the role of communicative resource in the success of professional development of specialists of anthropocentric professions. It is given the results of an empirical study of the communicative resource development indicators of medical students. It is shown the role of communicative resources as determinants of success. It is described the psychological profiles of "successful" and "unsuccessful" students. It is described the structure and content of a communicative resource. It is identified risks and the direction of psycho-akmeological support of the development of the communicative components of professional development of future professionals.

Key words: anthropocentric profession, communicative life, success, professional development, communicative, communicative competence, communicative control, empathy, risks.

North-Caucasus scientific center of high school of Southern federal university. Rostov-on-Don, Russia

August, 26, 2013
