

ECONOMICS
(specialty 08.00.05)

Babaeva A.A. International experience of TOC foreign investments attraction through public share distribution

The great choice of models of public share distribution allows multinational corporation to use them for attraction of a large number of investors. World experience of the organization of economic systems shows that defining element of its structure is the major company – corporation, and the international production is based on the process of internationalization and creation of close production connections, and also associations of the capital of different countries in the form of direct and portfolio investments. In this article the international experience of attraction of portfolio foreign investments of multinational corporation by means of public placement of shares is considered on the example of the world market of initial public offerings.

Key words: internationalization, foreign investments, legal factors, derivatives, macroeconomic situation.

Southern federal university

Rostov-on-Don, Russia

September, 21, 2013

---