Peter Nikolaevich Wrangel's participation in Russian-Japanese war

The research is devoted to the participation of P.N. Wrangel in the Russian-Japanese war. This is one of the less known moments of life of the Russian army at the final stage of the civil war in Russia. The key figure in the events - second cornet fifth hundred Argun Regiment second Transbaikal Cossack Division. Special attention is paid to the analysis of sources of personal origin. Due to the subjective component of the material, the chronology of events is based on a comparison of memories of P.N. Wrangel with similar sources other eyewitnesses. P.N. Wrangel was actively involved in the fighting in Manchuria, showing personal courage, that was reflected in his "Essays on Russian-Japanese War". Moreover, this idea is confirmed by awards he received during the war.

Key words: Russian-Japanese War, 2nd Argun Cossack Regiment, 2nd Transbaikal Cossack Division.
