Verbalization of logical and category of the actional

The purpose of the research is to analyze the transition of cogitative categories into semantic and then into linguistic categories. The traditional approach does not demonstrate the depths of mental and linguistic interrelations. However within the scope of the Morphotheme analysis one is able to follow the process of word formation as a result of objectivation of cogitative categories. For instance, in the article the verbalization process of the cogitative category of action is described. A word is considered as a multilevel, multi-aspect unit. Such approach reveals complex and sophisticated interactions of different categorical attributes resulting in the text cohesion and coherence.

Key words: Morphotheme analysis, a cogitative category, action, linguistic universals.
