“Octavius” Minucius Felix against epicurist Fronto

Christian and epicurean good cannot be comparable. Fronto criticizes namely Christianity and Christian themselves. Fronto is not embarrassed by the choice of words. The most negative thing you can hear about faith and its media are pronounced by him. Apparently, Fronto’s opinion about Christianity is entirely composed of the most ridiculous rumors and speculation. But even in this form there is a positive outlook on some religious views among Christians. Apology of Christianity by Minucius Felix, with all its creations depending on Cicero and Seneca, is original and strikes by originality of views on Christianity.

Key words: Epicureanism, Christianity, pleasure, joy, apology, religion, mind, soul, freedom, freedom.
