

HISTORY

Gutieva M.A., Sklyarova E.K.

(Gorsk state agrarian university, Vladikavkaz, Russia; Rostov state medical university, Rostov-on-Don, Russia)

Comparative analysis of social reforms in Russia and Great Britain in the first half of the XIX century

The subject of the study are social reforms in Russia and the UK in the first half of the XIX century. Historico-genetic and comparative analysis extends the current understanding of major social reforms and development of social policy. The creation of new public management systems, the growth of social spending after the Napoleonic wars became the basis of formation of social policy, social support and public health diverse population.

Key words: social reform, social policy, the Napoleonic Wars, the Crimean War, Edwin Chadwick, public health.

February, 12, 2015.
