

PHILOSOPHY

Faraponova M.A.

(North-Caucasian Federal University. Stavropol, Russia)

«Orthodox-Islamic dialogue in contemporary Russia: the foundation and opportunities»

The problem of inter-religious dialogue at the present time, becomes more and more relevant in the world, but for Russian reality acceptable not all types of dialogue related to the generally accepted classification. The article discusses the reasons and the possibility of dialogue between two of the most numerous Russian religions - Orthodox Christianity and Islam. Identified specific Orthodox-Islamic dialogue in modern Russia, which consists in the impossibility of models of dialogue "discursive" and "internal" because exclusivists nature of both religions. Models of dialogue "human" and "secular" are justified theoretically and verificada facts of the historical formation of the Russian state, as polietnicheskogo and multi-religious. Emphasizes the need for Orthodox-Islamic dialogue as one of the most important instruments of the organization of social life of modern Russian society.

Key words: Orthodoxy, Islam, interfaith dialogue, the Russian specificity, multi-religious society.

February, 17, 2015
