

LAW

I.M. Goov

(North Caucasian institute (branch) of the Ministry of Internal Affairs Krasnodar university of the Russian Federation. Krasnodar, Russia)

Institutions of civil law within the system of common law of North Caucasus peoples

It is considered the similarities and differences, cooperation and conflict of customary law institutions of Circassians, Ossetians, Karachai, Chechens, Ingush, Dagestanis and other peoples of the North Caucasus, taking into account all available scientific methods of jurisprudence. In the analyzed period in the North Caucasus it started to develop private ownership of land. This caused various legal consequences that were settled by Russian law. Along with the Russian legislation customary law still operates.

Key words: customary law, peoples of the Caucasus, civil law, baramta, legal relations.

October, 5, 2015
