

LINGUISTICS

E.S. Gaylomazova

(Rostov institute of entrepreneurship protection, Rostov-on-Don, Russia)

Structure and syntactic functions of ties in the connection with coordinating conjunctions

It is known that so-called "small words" of functional character along with intonation and a word order are considered in linguistics as the main tool for the text formation. The analysis of these explicit segment indicators of the text relations is in the center of modern linguistics of the text. While contacting the coordinating conjunctions «и», «а», «но», «да» the constructing features are not destroyed as there takes place a certain distribution of functions, and the tie is the indicator of semantic and structural relations between the sentences of the structure, amplifying the noting meaning of the conjunction tie.

Key words: specifiers, text, complex syntactic unit, text forming function, coordinative conjunction.

November, 12, 2015
