

PHILOSOPHY

T.A. Volyntseva

(Southern federal university, Rostov-on-Don, Russia)

To the problem of methodological search of orphanage study bases

It is noted the methodological basis of the concept of abandonment from the standpoint of existentialist philosophy. The key idea advocates the existentialist's thesis on alienation as a phenomenon accompanying humankind throughout its existence. It is also indicated that the orphans can have several variants of philosophical interpretation in different variations of existentialism.

Key words: orphans, loneliness, alienation, existential philosophy, border situation.

June, 19, 2016
