

PEDAGOGY

N.G. Khramtsova

(Kurgan state university, Kurgan, Russia)

Professional communicative competences of law students in the system for improving the quality of higher legal education

It is considered modern problems in the field of improving the quality of higher legal education, and possible ways of their solution. For the realization of the challenges currently facing the field of higher legal education tasks it is proposed some measures to develop the communication skills of law students to improve the existing situation. Identifying readiness for professional work with communicative activity, the it is substantiated the necessity of formation and development of students – future lawyers' professional communicative competencies for a successful solution of professional tasks. This is made possible through the use of University integrating new learning technologies legal communication, allowing the formation of communicative competence of future lawyers in the classes when teaching legal subjects. The proposed approach allows to improve the quality of professional training of students in the system of higher legal education.

Key words: teaching, law, quality of education, higher legal education, professional communicative competence, measures to improve the quality of education.

May, 14, 2016