

PHILOLOGY

T. Mikheeva, E. Shapovalova

(Don state technical university. Rostov-on-Don, Russian Federation)

Language world picture reflected in phraseological units

The understanding of the general and specific concepts "world picture" and "language world picture" is given, it is defined how the image of the world and "world picture" correspond". The national and cultural component of the Russian phraseological units, their psychological subparameter is considered, three groups of substantive phraseological units from the point of view of national features of psychology of the Russian person are allocated. Special attention is paid to the analysis of the Russian substantive phraseological units with a component-somatism "head" and phraseological units reflecting symbolics of color in comparison to the French phraseological units.

Key words: world picture, language world picture, component-somatism.

February, 10, 2017
