Man, freedom, being: philosophic and anthropologic analysis

It is considered the ratio of the key philosophical concepts: "man", "freedom" and "Genesis" from philosophical-anthropological point of view. Semitransparency personality to being is a development of the spiritual dimension of the person as a key measure of a truly human being, bursting a man from dead space Nothing which appears in this dimension is not as nothingness, but as a potential opportunity. It is in this explication of freedom that over being and pre being can be considered, i.e. opposed to being as necessary.

Key words: freedom, being, philosophy, culture, man, philosophical anthropology.
