

PHILOSOPHY

Marzhan U. Suleybanova

(Chechen state university. Grozny, Russian Federation)

Infinitive constructions in the meaning of objective subordinate sentences

Linguists expressed various opinions on hypotaxis in the mountain Iberian-Caucasian languages. Some linguists believe that the predicative participial and adverbial movements are the expanded members of the proposal. Since the history of studying this problem is of undoubted interest, we will attempt to briefly outline the main points of view on this issue of linguists, to some extent expressed their attitude to hypotaxis.

Key words: hypotaxis, Ibero-Caucasian languages, predicative involved and adverbial participles.

December 15, 2017
