Internationality of modern English in the focus of modern Russian studies

The process of borrowing from the English language is considered, representing a complex debatable format in Russian science, generated by the change of paradigms of value orientations in society. The language, as a cognitive field of language interactions and a flexible system, actively responds to all the changes that are occurring in the world; therefore, anglicisms intensively fill in various referential thematic zones in modern Russian. However, there are negative aspects of this process, which can lead to a loss of national identity. The problem of the issue is considered in the synchronic and diachronic description, the evidence of the research results is achieved by referring to the Ruscorpora.

Key words: borrowing, the English language, anglicisms, Ruscorpora
