

PEDAGOGY

Yulia V. Maslova

(South Russian state polytechnical university (NPI) of V.I. Platov. Novocherkassk, Russian Federation)

Ecologic education as a factor of ecological culture development in modern Russian society

It is considered the problem of environmental education as a key factor in the formation and development of ecological culture. The specificity, main problems and trends in the development of environmental education in modern Russia are researched, the relevance of the principle of the unity of the ecology of nature and the ecology of culture in modern thinking and education is emphasized. A special place is given to the problem of building a system of environmental education based on humanistic values. At the same time, the interactive process of generating ecological meanings is an important aspect of modern environmental education.

Key words: environmental education, ecological culture, modern Russian society, ecology of nature and ecology of culture, ecological meanings.

September 24, 2020
