

PHILOLOGY

Elena S. Shilova

(Rostov law institute of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of Russia, Rostov-on-Don, Russian Federation)

Representation of lexical means of linguistic expressiveness in the communicative practice of lawyers

It is studied the usage of lexical means of linguistic expressiveness in the communicative practice of lawyers. The author analyzes examples of judicial speeches which are the part of one of the main stages of legal proceedings, namely judicial debates. Based on the subject of the study, the author noted that the usage of words in judicial speech is the subject of integral norms. Based on the analysis and study of court speeches, the conclusion is based: most speakers, representatives, as well as defenders in court use such a mean of speech as a metaphor formed to convey the characteristics of the object.

Key words: communicative practice, lexical means, linguistic expressiveness, judicial speaker, oratorical speech, judicial eloquence.

April 30, 2022
