English borrowings in the context of Spain language policy

Anglicisms are identified and analyzed in the language of the modern Spanish press. The main areas of use and functioning of English words in journalistic texts of the Spanish-language media are determined, which include information technology names, names of professions and professional activities, persons by social status, lifestyle, interests, as well as fashion and beauty. It is noted that anglicisms are not always used justifiably, having a significant impact on the modern language situation in Spain.

Key words: linguistic borrowings, neologisms, anglicisms, language situation, language policy.
