

PEDAGOGY

Anastasia S. Martynova, Tatyana V. Timofeeva, Olga N. Ivus

(Primorsky state agricultural academy, Ussuriysk, Russian Federation)

Realizing of the educational component through the studying of FSBEI HE Primorsky state academy of agriculture history during the foreign language classes

The aim of learning a foreign language in an agricultural academy is not only at learning special vocabulary, grammar rules, but also to educate students. The increasing demands for the training of future specialists, the development of a fully developed personality, possessing historical knowledge, including knowledge about the history of their educational institution, make article topical. The proposed educational module aimed at increasing the knowledge of students about the history of the Primorsky SAA, as well as the implementation of an educational component in the studying of a foreign language, is of practical significance. The developed educational module uses information technologies that expand the educational opportunities of students, increase motivation for learning a foreign language. The proposed tasks are original and allow students to show independence and realize their creative abilities.

Key words: foreign language studying, educational component, the history of the Primorsky SAA, education, learning process.

January 14, 2023
