Spiritual, moral and pedagogical factors of the development of the institution of family and marital and family relations in the modern socio-cultural reality of Russia

It is considered the problem of increasing crisis phenomena in the social institution of family and marriage in modern Russian society. It is given an example of spiritual and moral factors that can eradicate this phenomenon and restore stability to family and marriage relations. It is discussed such disturbing trends as the growing cult of consumption, violation of gender role models, replacement of traditional value attitudes with anti-values. An attempt is made to propose an effective model for solving the current crisis and leveling its negative consequences for the family and society as a whole.

Key words: family and marriage relations, family institution, religion, spiritual and moral crisis, values, anti-values, cult of consumption, promiscuity, concubinage, cohabitation.
