Karl Jaspers' philosophical faith as a radical concept of secularism

Relying on the research of leading modern Jaspers scholars, primarily Andreas Cesana, professor of philosophy at the University of Mainz (Germany), it is considered the philosophical reflection of Karl Jaspers, in which secularity in its most integral and deep form is grasped by the world philosophy, while philosophical faith is already a kind of synthesis of secularity and religiosity.

Key words: religiosity, secularism, secularized religion, post-secularism, philosophical faith, theology.
