

PHILOLOGY

Marzhan U. Suleybanova, Laila A. Askhabova

(Chechen State University named after A.A. Kadyrov, Grozny, Russian Federation; Chechen State Pedagogical University, Grozny, Russian Federation)

Compound adjectives with participial components

One of the most numerous classes of words in the Russian language is considered – compound adjectives. Six main types of compound adjectives are analyzed. It is noted that most of these words were first marked by dictionaries of the Soviet era; many of them belong to the vocabulary of terminological, special. In other dictionaries of the Russian language of the XVIII century. and the first half of the XIX century. in the “Materials for the Old Russian dictionary” by I.I. Sreznevsky, complex adjectives of the considered group are absent.

Key words: compound adjectives, basic passive participles.

October 24, 2023
