

PEDAGOGY

Alexandr V. Zezyulko

(Southern Federal University, Rostov-on-Don, Russian Federation)

Information security and principles of its provision in the educational process

The issues of information security and the principles of its provision in the educational process are considered. The relevance of the stated research topic is due to the rapid pace of the modern information society, covering all spheres of its life, including educational, in connection with which there is a massive introduction of computer technology into the educational process, as well as the use of the Internet in it.

Key words: information security, educational process, information environment, educational institution, psychological health.

November 18, 2023

---