

PEDAGOGY

Inna S. Alekseeva

(Stavropol State Pedagogical Institute, Stavropol, Russian Federation)

Personality in the process of upbringing: theoretical and methodological aspects of research

The article analyzes personality, which is a key factor in upbringing. It affects the choice of educational methods and strategies, the results of upbringing. In the process of upbringing, personality is one of the most relevant and studied concepts in the fields of psychology and education. According to the author, upbringing as a process of personality formation is one of the most relevant aspects of human development. The role of the individual in solving the problems of upbringing is an important aspect of upbringing, and certain personal qualities make it possible to effectively solve the problems of upbringing.

Key words: society, education, motivation, socialization, worldview, values, interpersonal relationships.

October 15, 2024
