

PHILOSOPHY

Gennady I. Lukyanov<sup>1</sup>, Igor P. Makeenko<sup>2</sup>, Alexander A. Volkov<sup>3</sup>

(<sup>1</sup>Volga Institute of Economics, Pedagogy and Law, Volzhsky, Russian Federation; <sup>2</sup>Technological Institute of Service (branch) Don State Technical University in Stavropol, Stavropol, Russian Federation; <sup>3</sup>Stavropol State Pedagogical Institute, Stavropol, Russian Federation)

Socio-philosophical analysis of the professional competence of the individual in the context of social development

The article explores the question of professional competence of the individual, which is relevant for all historical eras. At the beginning of the XXI century, the problem of the content of professional competence acquired social features. This is due to the fact that the socio-economic and socio-cultural changes taking place in society impose new requirements on the personality of a specialist. According to the authors, the ability to be the subject of their professional development, to independently find solutions to socially and professionally significant problems in a rapidly changing society, is highlighted.

Key words: personality, consciousness, culture, education, motivation, value orientations, society.

January 12, 2025

---