Professional training of teachers of Russian as a foreign language based on an andragogical approach

Teaching Russian as a foreign language requires not only knowledge of the language itself, but also skills and abilities to work in a multicultural, age-diverse environment. The professional training of teachers of Russian as a foreign language should be based on modern approaches, in particular andragogical ones, taking into account existing experience and conditions.

Key words: teacher of Russian as a foreign language, andragogical approach, adult education.
