

PHILOSOPHY

Jing Jinghua¹, Anna N. Salodovnikova²

^(1,2)Linguistics University of Nizhny Novgorod, Nizhny Novgorod, Russian Federation)

Anthropological and philosophical aspects of the concept of “home-family” in Chinese culture

The article explores the cultural and philosophical aspects of the “house-family” concept in the Chinese tradition. It analyzes the importance of this concept not only as a social institution but also as a crucial link between the individual, society, and the state. The paper discusses how family in Chinese philosophy represents not only a social unit but also a cultural core that shapes values and the foundations of harmony in society.

Key words: family, home, Chinese culture, philosophy, harmony.

April 14, 2025